GEL PIPELINE TEXAS, LLC ANNOUNCES OPEN SEASON FOR A CRUDE OIL PIPELINE SYSTEM FROM RECEIPT POINTS ON THE DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY PIPELINE AND CAMERON HIGHWAY OFFSHORE PIPELINE SYSTEM IN TEXAS CITY, TEXAS TO DELIVERY POINTS IN WEBSTER, TEXAS AND TEXAS CITY, TEXAS

Houston, TX – GEL Pipeline Texas, LLC (“GPT”), an affiliate of Genesis Energy, L.P. (“Genesis”), today announced plans to conduct a binding open season to solicit shipper interest in making commitments to a crude oil transportation pipeline system originating at new receipt points at the (i) Department of Energy (“DOE”) Pipeline and (ii) Cameron Highway Offshore Pipeline System (“CHOPS”) and deliver barrels to (i) Webster Terminal, (ii) Marathon Petroleum Corporation’s Texas City refinery or (iii) a Genesis affiliate’s brown water barge dock in Texas City. The pipeline will include terminaling infrastructure capable of receiving, segregating and batching multiple Gulf of Mexico crude oil grades originating from the Hoover Offshore Oil Pipeline System (the “HOOPS System”) and the CHOPS System. GPT is constructing approximately 4 miles of new pipeline connecting into its existing Texas pipeline system in Texas City to access the delivery points.

“Our Texas pipeline system will provide Gulf of Mexico shippers a northbound delivery option beyond the Texas City refining market,” said Genesis Vice President of Finance & Corporate Development, Ryan Sims. “Given our existing asset base in Texas and the Gulf of Mexico, Genesis was a logical fit to provide this service. We remain focused on providing maximum optionality for our offshore and refining customers through our pipeline portfolio.”

The open season will begin on Tuesday February 21, 2017 at 9:00 a.m. CST and will end on Tuesday March 8, 2017 at 5:00 p.m. CST.
